

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system capable of public presentation materials making in a publishing server is provided. A presentation material publishing system includes a presenter, a reader, and a presentation material publishing server which can be accessed by the presenter and the reader via a network. The presentation material publishing server makes public presentation materials which are uploaded from the presenter on condition of the registration of predetermined public information. The reader can browse the presentation materials permitted by the presentation material publishing server via the network.